

Fallacies 2

Identify the fallacies employed in each of the following arguments.

1. If I stand up, I'll have a better view of the football game. If we all stand up, we'll all have a better view.
2. Some teenagers recently vandalized a gazebo in Gypsy Hill park. Teenagers are so irresponsible.
3. If we let the children to choose what TV show we watch tonight, they are going to expect to be able to choose the meals we eat, the school they go, the doctors they visit, and everything else.
4. While I was walking down Main Street in Waynesboro, I said "Good morning" to a man I passed. He completely ignored me. Those people who live in Waynesboro are quite rude.
5. No atoms are alive. Everything, including animals and rocks, are made of atoms. So animals are no more alive than rocks.
6. Mr. Smith doesn't know how to teach. He graduated from a community college.
7. We need to stop allowing colleges to increase tuition every year. The next thing we know, it's going to cost more to attend college for one semester than it is to buy a new home.
8. You shouldn't listen to that pediatrician, Dr. Peach. He's never been a mother.
